

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Whatever happened to freedom of the "press" or airways in our case. I cannot see that Sinclair's production is "in the public interest" but is rather a political promotion piece which should be so advertised. Furthermore, the opportunity should be available for the opposing party to have the same amount of time to show whatever political piece they wish.

I truly feel that Sinclair's decision is a violation of trust and FCC rules and regulations. It is nothing short of coercion and blackmail.
